   (c) the matter is published by order of the President or the Government;
   (d) the matter is published concerning a person who is the subject to military or naval discipline for the time being, and relates to his conduct as a person who is the subject of such discipline and is published by the person having authority over him in respect of such conduct;
   (e) the matter is published in the course of any judicial proceedings by a person taking part in court proceedings as a judge or magistrate or commissioners or advocate or assessor or witness or party thereto;
   (f) the matter published is in fact a fair report of anything said, done or published in the National Assembly; or
   (g) the person publishing the matter is legally bound to publish it.
   (2) Where a publication is absolutely privileged, it is immaterial for the purposes of this Part whether the matter is true or false, and whether it is known or be not known or believed to be false, and whether or not it is published in good faith.
   (3) Nothing in this section shall exempt any person from any liability of a civil or criminal nature under any other Part of this Act or under any other written law if the publication of a matter alleged to be absolutely privileged is prohibited or the relief to a person injured is available under the Constitution of the United Republic.

36. A publication of defamatory matter is privileged on condition that it was published in good faith, if the relation between the parties by or to whom the publication is made is such that the person publishing the matter is under some legal, moral or social duty to publish it to the person to whom the publication is made or has a legitimate personal interest in publishing it and the publication does not exceed either in extent or matter what is reasonably sufficient for the occasion, and in any of the following cases, namely-
   (a) the matter published, is in fact, a fair report of anything said, done or shown in a civil or criminal inquiry or proceedings before any court, if however the court prohibited the publication of anything said or shown before it, on the ground that it is seditious, immoral or blasphemous, the publication shall not be privileged;

(b) the matter published, is a copy or, reproduction, or is in fact, a fair abstract of any matter which was previously published, and the previous publication of which was or would have been privileged under this Part;

(c) the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the conduct of any person in a judicial, official or other public capacity, or as to his personal character so far as it appears in such conduct;

(d) the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the conduct of a person in relation to a public question or matter, or as to his personal character, so far as it appears in such conduct;

(e) the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the conduct of any person disclosed by evidence given in a public legal proceedings, whether civil or criminal, as to the conduct of any person as a party, witness or otherwise in any such proceedings, or as to the character of any person so far as it appears in any such conduct as in this paragraph;

(f) the matter is an expression of opinion in good faith as to the merits of any book, writing, painting, speech or other work, performance or act published or publicly done or made or submitted by a person to the judgment of the public, or as to the character of the person so far as it appears;

(g) the matter is a censure passed by a person in good faith on the conduct of another person in any matter in respect of which he has authority, by contract or otherwise, over the person, or on the character of the other person, so far as it appears in such conduct;

(h) the matter is a complaint or accusation made by a person in good faith against another person in respect of his conduct in any matter, or in respect of his character so far as it appears in such conduct, to any person having authority, by contract or otherwise, over that other person in respect of such conduct or matter, or having authority by law to inquire into or receive complaints respecting such conduct or matter; or

(i) the matter is published in good faith for the protection of the rights or interests of the person who publishes or of the person to whom it is published.

37.- (1) A person who publishes words alleged to be defamatory of another person may, if he claims that the words were published by him innocently in relation to that other person, make an offer of amends and in that case where-

(a) the offer is accepted by the party aggrieved and is duly performed, no proceedings for libel or slander shall be taken or continued by that party against the person making the offer in respect of the publication in question, but without prejudice to any cause of action against any other person jointly responsible for that publication;

(b) the offer of amends is not accepted by the party aggrieved, then, except as otherwise provided for by this section, it shall be a defence for the person making the offer, in any proceedings by the party aggrieved for libel, slander against the person making the offer in respect of the publication in question, to prove that:

(i) the words complained of were published by the defendant innocently in relation to the plaintiff; and

(ii) the offer was made as soon as practicable after the defendant received notice that they were or might be defamatory of the plaintiff, and has not been withdrawn.

(2) An offer of amends made pursuant to this section, shall be accompanied by an affidavit specifying the facts relied upon by the person making it to show that the words in question were published innocently in relation to the party aggrieved.

(3) For the purpose of a defence under paragraph (b) of subsection (1), no evidence, other than evidence of facts specified in the affidavit, shall be admissible on behalf of the person making the offer of amends to prove that the words were so published.

(4) An offer of amends referred shall be construed and understood to mean an offer-

(a) in any case, to publish or join in the publication of a suitable correction of the words complained of, and a sufficient apology to the party aggrieved in respect of those words; and

(b) where copies of a document or record containing the written words have been distributed by or with the knowledge of the person making the offer, to take such steps as are reasonably practicable on for notifying persons to whom copies have been so distributed that the words are alleged to be defamatory of the party aggrieved.

(5) Where an offer of amends is accepted by the party aggrieved:

(a) any question as to the step to be taken in fulfillment of the offer as so accepted shall, in default of agreement between the parties, be referred to and determined by the court; and

(b) power of the court to make orders as to costs in proceedings by the party aggrieved against the person making the offer in respect of the publication in question or in proceedings in respect of the offer referred to under paragraph (a) shall include power to order the payment by the person making the offer to the party aggrieved of the costs of an indemnity basis, and expenses reasonably incurred or to be incurred by that party in consequence of the publication in question.

(6) Where no proceedings have been commenced in pursuance to subsection (1), the court may, upon application made by the party aggrieved, make an order for the payment of the costs and expenses as court finds just and appropriate.
(7) For the purpose of this section, words shall be treated as published by one person, in this subsection referred to as the publisher, innocently in relation to another person if the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) the publisher did not intend to publish the words and concerning that other person and did not know of circumstances by virtue of which they might be understood to refer to that other person; or

(b) the words were not defamatory on the face of it and the publisher did not know circumstances by virtue of which they might be understood to be defamatory of that other person, and in either case, that the publisher exercised all reasonable care in relation to the publication.

(8) Any reference in subsection (7) to the publisher shall be construed as including a reference to a servant or agent of the publisher in relation to the contents of the publication in question.

(9) The provisions of subsection (1)(b) shall not apply in relation to the publication of words by a person who is not the author unless he proves that the words were written by the author without malice.

38.- (1) Where a person alleges that a print or electronic media content is defamatory within the meaning of this Act, that person may make complaint to the court for redress.

(2) The complaint shall contain a copy of a print or electronic media content complained about or, if the print or electronic media content cannot be extracted without unduly difficulty, statement to the effect that retrieval of the print or electronic media content has not been possible.

(3) On receipt of the complaint the court shall hear the complaint and where appropriate, summon the parties to substantiate their case or defence.

(3) It shall be a defence to a charge under subsection (2), if the person charged did not know that the publication was seditious when it came into his possession and that as soon as the nature of the publication became known to him, he delivered the publication to the nearest administrative officer or to the officer in charge of the nearest police station.

(4) A printing machine which has been, or is reasonably suspected of being, used for or in connection with the printing or reproduction of a seditious publication, may be seized or otherwise secured by a police officer pending the trial and conviction or discharge or acquittal of any person accused of printing or reproducing any seditious publication.

(5) When any person is convicted of printing or reproducing a seditious publication, the court may, in addition to any other penalty which the court may impose, order that the printing machine on which the publication was printed or reproduced be, either confiscated for a period of not less than twelve months, but not exceeding three years or forfeited to the Government of the United Republic, and may make such order whether or not the person convicted is, or was at the time when the publication was printed or reproduced, the owner of the printing machine.

(6) A printing machine forfeited to the Government of the United Republic shall be sold, and the proceeds shall be paid into the Media Fund.

(7) When the proprietor, publisher, printer or editor of a newspaper is convicted of printing or publishing a seditious publication in a newspaper, the court may, in addition to any other penalty it may impose, and whether or not it has made any order under subsection (5), make an order prohibiting any further publication of the newspaper for a period of not less than twelve months and not exceeding three years.

(8) A court shall, before ordering the forfeiture or confiscation of a printing machine, satisfy itself that the printing machine was the printing machine upon which the seditious publication was printed or reproduced.

(9) In any case in which a printing machine is secured or confiscated, the Inspector-General of Police may, in his discretion, cause-
(a) the printing machine or any part of it to be removed; or
(b) any part of the machine to be sealed so as to prevent its use.

(10) The Inspector-General of Police shall, while exercising powers conferred by this section, not be liable for any damage caused to a printing machine which is under his possession.

(11) Any person who uses or attempts to use a printing machine secured or confiscated pursuant to subsection (4) commits an offence, and shall be liable upon conviction, to a fine of not less than ten million shillings but not exceeding twenty million shillings or to imprisonment or a term of not less than three years but not exceeding five years or to both.

(12) Any person who prints or publishes a newspaper in contravention of an order made under subsection (6) commits an offence, and shall be liable upon conviction, to a fine of not less than five million shillings but not exceeding ten million shillings or to imprisonment for a term of not less than three years and not exceeding five years or to both.

51.- (1) Any person who publishes any false statement, rumor or report which is likely to cause fear and alarm to the public or to disturb the public peace commits an offence and shall be liable upon conviction to a fine of not less than ten million shillings but not exceeding twenty million shillings or to imprisonment for a term of not less than four years and not exceeding six years or both.

(2) It shall be a defense to a charge commenced under subsection (1), if the accused proves that, prior to publication, he took such measures to verify the accuracy of such a statement, rumor or report and that such verification lead him to reasonably believe that the publication was true.

52.- (1) Where an offence under this Act is committed by a company or a body corporate, a society, an association or a body of persons, every person who, at the time of the commission of the offence, was concerned as a director or an officer with the management of the affairs or activities of such company or a body corporate, a society, an association or a body of persons, commits an offence and shall be liable upon conviction to a fine of not less than fifteen million shillings but exceeding twenty five million shillings.

(2) It shall be a defence for such person, director or any officer to prove to the satisfaction of the court that he had no knowledge and could not, by the exercise of reasonable diligence, have had knowledge of the commission of the offence.

53. Where an offence under this Act is committed by a person as an agent or employee then, as well as the agent or employee, the principal or employer commits an offence and shall be liable on conviction to a fine of not less than fifteen million shillings but not exceeding twenty five million shillings unless he proves to the satisfaction of the court that he had no knowledge, and could not by the exercise of reasonable diligence have had knowledge of the commission of the offence.

PART VIII

9. All orders, direction, notices or other documents made or issued on behalf of the Board shall be signed by-

(a) the Chairman;
(b) the Director of Information Services or other officer of the Board appointed in writing in that behalf.

10. Subject to the provisions of this Schedule, the Board shall regulate its own proceedings.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This Bill proposes to enact the Media Services Act with a view of putting in place a legal framework for the promotion of professionalism in the Media Service Industry, to provide for institution framework, roles and responsibilities with the overall objective of realizing professional conduct amongst journalist, media houses and the general public.

For purpose of appreciating the intended objectives, the Bill is divided into Eight Parts. Part I deals with preliminary provisions whereby provisions on short title and commencement, application and interpretation of various terminologies are contained.

Part II makes provisions relating to organs, entities and personnel vested with the mandate to deal in or offer information services in Tanzania. The Part makes provisions for the recognition of Information Services as an apex organ of the Government for regulation of media services in Tanzania. The Part also makes provision for categorization as well as obligation of media houses to provide media services.

Further, the Part makes provision for licensing requirements of print media as a basis of provision of Information Services which is the mandate of the Information Service.

Part III generally deals with Accreditation Board. It makes provision for the establishment of the Journalists Accreditation Board which shall be a body corporate vested with the mandate of accrediting journalist professionals. The Part further proposes the creation of a Media Training Fund with a view to facilitate training of Media Services Professionals and promote research and other programmes for the development of media service profession.
Part IV makes provision for the establishment of the Media Council which shall be an Independent Forum for all accredited journalists, media houses and such other allied media service invitees of the Council. The Part makes provisions for functions of the Council which include the promotion of ethical and professional standards through its forums.

Furthermore, this part mandates the Council to determine complaints against print media content. A person aggrieved by the decision of the Council may appeal to the High Court.

Part V deals with defamation and it contains the provisions on defamation, definition of unlawful publication, cases in which publication is absolutely privileged. Cases in which publication is conditionally privileged, offer of amends and redress of defamation are also provided.

Part VI provides for financial provision of the Board. It includes all matters pertaining sources of funds, annual estimates and such matters regarding books of accounts.

Part VII deals with various offences relating to media services. The Part includes offences in relation to publication, seditious intention, seditious offences, publication likely to cause fear and alarm, offences by corporation or societies and liability of employer or principal.

Part VIII deals with general provisions whereby provisions on powers to prohibit importation of publication, power of seizure, service of process and notice, risk insurance and social security, regulations, repeals and transitional provisions are contained.
