of Customary Law

50.—(1) In the exercise of its Customary Law jurisdiction, a Ward Tribunal shall apply the Customary Law prevailing within its local jurisdiction, or if there is more than one such law, the law applicable in the area in which the act, transaction or matter occurred or arose, unless it is satisfied that some other Customary Law is applicable but it shall apply the Customary Law prevailing within the area of its local jurisdiction in matter of practice and procedure to the exclusion of any other Customary Law.

Practice and procedure

(2) In the exercise of their respective jurisdictions, the High Court and the District Land and Housing Tribunals shall not refuse to recognize any rule of Customary Law on the grounds that it has not been established by evidence but may accept any statement thereof which appears to it to be worth of belief which is contained in the record of proceedings or from any other source which appears to be credible or may take judicial notice thereof.

(3) Where there is any dispute or uncertainty as to any customary law whether by reason of anything contained in the record of the proceedings, the grounds of appeal or otherwise, the High Court (Land Division) or the District Land and Housing Tribunal shall not be required to accept as conclusive or binding any evidence contained in the record but shall—

- (a) in any case of dispute, determine the Customary Law applicable, and give judgement thereon, in accordance with what it conceives to be the best and most credible opinion or statement which is consistent with the provisions of such Customary Law as are undisputed; and

- (b) in any case of uncertainty, determine the appeal and give judgement thereon, in such manner as accords as near as may be to the provisions of such Customary Law as are established and certain.

51.—(1) In the exercise of the respective jurisdictions, the High Court and District Land and Housing Tribunals shall apply the Civil Procedure Code, 1966 and the Evidence Act, 1967:-

- (a) subject to regulations made under section 49 may accept such evidence as is pertinent and such proof as appears to be worthy of belief, according to the value thereof and notwithstanding any other law relating to the adduction and reception of evidence;
- (b) shall not be required to comply or conform with the provisions of any rule of practice or procedure otherwise generally applicable in proceedings in the appellate or revisional court, but may apply any such rule where it considers the application thereof would be advantageous to the exercise of such jurisdiction;
- (2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), the Minister may, where inadequacy to the laws cited under subsection (1), circumstances allow, make regulations prescribing the rules of evidence and procedure to be applied.

52.—(1) The Customary Law (Limitation of Proceedings) Rules 1964 shall apply to proceedings in the Ward Tribunal in the exercise of its compulsive jurisdiction.

Limitation
G.N. No.
311 of 1964

(2) The Law of Limitation Act, 1971 shall apply to proceedings in the District Land and Housing Tribunal and the High Court (Land Division) in the exercise of their respective original jurisdiction.

53. The following Tribunals are hereby disestablished—
