Invocation
of section 4

3.-(1) Subject to this section and to the other provisions of this Act, this Act shall apply in relation to the investigation, hearing and determination of cases relating to any economic sabotage offence.

(2) Whenever the President is of the opinion that it is in the national interest that this Act be applied in respect of economic sabotage offences, he may, by order published in the Gazette provide that the investigation, hearing and determination of cases relating to economic sabotage offences shall be governed by the provisions of this Act.

(3) The President may apply the order made under sub-section (2) to such persons or category of offences and for such duration as may be specified in the order.

(4) The first order made by the President under sub-section (2) shall remain in force for a period of twelve months from the date of its commencement and shall then lapse; any subsequent order shall remain in force for a period of not more than six months from the date of its commencement unless the National Assembly by Resolution in that behalf extends its application for a period to be specified in the Resolution.

(5) With effect from the date of commencement of any order made under sub-section (2)-

(a) all legal provisions governing the investigation, hearing and disposal of cases relating to economic sabotage offences shall cease to apply; and

(b) every person who commits or has committed any scheduled offence or has committed any offence involving economic sabotage shall subject to subsections (2) and (3) be tried or otherwise dealt-with in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

President to
arrest, search of economic saboteurs

4.-(I) Where the President invokes the provisions of section 3, the arrest, search or detention in custody of persons suspected of committing or having committed economic sabotage offence shall be executed by police officers in such manner as the President shall direct.

(2) Any person arrested under the provisions of this section shall be brought before the Tribunal as soon as possible after his arrest and, at any rate within not more than sixty days from the date of his arrest, whether or not the investigations in respect of the offence which he is alleged or have committed are completed.

(3) Any person arrested under subsection (1) may be detained as a civil prisoner in custody or in prison and such person shall, while detained in pursuance of the order, be in lawful custody.

(4) The President may-

(a) rescind any order made under subsection (1) of this section;

(b) direct that the operation of an order made under this Act be suspended subject to such conditions, if any, as may be specified in such direction-

(i) requiring the person in respect of whom the order is made to notify his movements in such manner, at such times and to such authority or person as may be specified; and

(ii) requiring him to enter into a bond with or without sureties for the observance of any such conditions aforesaid; and if that person fails to comply with a condition attached to such a direction, he shall, whether or not the direction is revoked, be detained under the original order.

(5) Subject to any regulations which the Minister may make in that behalf, the regulations made under the Preventive Detention Act, 1962 controlling visits to and correspondence to or from detainees shall apply to visits and correspondence to detainees under this Act.

5.-(1) There is hereby established a Tribunal which shall be known as the National Anti-Economic Sabotage Tribunal which shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have exclusive jurisdiction to bear and determine all cases involving economic sabotage offences.

(2) The Tribunal shall consist of a Chairman and not less than four nor more than twelve other members all of whom shall be appointed by the President. The Chairman of the Tribunal shall be a Judge of the High Court appointed in that behalf by the President.

(3) For the purposes of hearing and determining any matter brought before it, the Tribunal shall consist of three members one of whom shall be a judge of the High Court who shall preside over the proceedings, and any decision approved by the majority of the members shall be deemed to be the decision of the Tribunal; but any member who dissents shall put his reasons in writing and they shall form part of the record of the Tribunal relating to the case or matter concerned.

(4) The Tribunal shall be convened as often as may be necessary and without prejudice to the other provisions of this Act, it shall make such recommendation to the Minister to make regulations on a procedure to facilitate the carrying out of its functions under this Act as it may deem fit.

Cap. 490

Establishment of the National Economic Sabotage
Tribunal

(5) Where the Tribunal convicts a person of any economic sabotage offence it may order that he be detained for any period not exceeding fifteen years, and make such orders relating to-

- (a) the settlement of that person while serving sentence;
- (b) the disposal of any property to which the offence concerned related; as it may deem fit.

(6) The Tribunal shall make special recommendations to the President on how to deal with any person who gives any false statement which leads to the arrest and detention of any person under this Act.

(7) Nothing in this section or in any legislation enacted by Parliament for the purposes of this Act shall confer on the Tribunal any jurisdiction to inquire into or review any decision of any Judge, Magistrate or the Registrar where that decision was made by him in the exercise of the functions of his judicial office; similarly the Tribunal shall have no powers to inquire into or review any decision of any tribunal established by or under any legislation for the performance of judicial functions in the exercise of those functions.

Forfeiture 6. For the avoidance of doubt where the Tribunal is satisfied that an economic sabotage offence has been committed in respect of any Property seized and retained in pursuance of the provisions of section 4(1) it may order that the property be forfeited to the United Republic or be disposed of in such a manner as it may deem fair and just in the circumstances.

Duty to Act on recommendations 7. Where the Tribunal makes any recommendations to the President in pursuance of any provision of this Act, the President shall receive the recommendation and act on it in such manner as he may deem fair and just in the circumstance.

Duty of Police to bring cases before the Tribunal 8. Subject to such directions, exceptions or conditions as may be issued in that behalf by the Director of public Prosecutions, Police public Prosecutors shall be responsible for the conduct of prosecutions before the Tribunal.

Conduct of enquiries before the Tribunal 9.-(1) Subject to sub-section (2), the proceedings of the Tribunal shall be open to the members of the Public generally, so far as the place in which the proceedings are conducted can conveniently contain them.

(2) The Tribunal may if it thinks fit, order at any stage of any proceedings the public generally or any particular person shall not have access to or be or remain in the room or building used by the Tribunal -

(3) The Tribunal may hear or obtain information from such persons as it thinks fit.

(4) Subject to section 12, the Tribunal may obtain information whether or not the same be evidence within the meaning of the law for the time being regulating the admissibility of evidence in courts of law.

procuring information and the attendance of witnesses 10. (1) The Tribunal may require any person who in its opinion, is able to give any information relating to any matter relevant to an enquiry to furnish it with any such information and to produce any documents, papers or things which may be in Possession or under the control of that person and may, by order under the hand of a member, require any such person to attend before the Tribunal at a time and place specified in such order and to be examined on oath or to produce any such document, paper or thing.

(2) Where the Tribunal orders any person to be examined on oath, any member may administer such oath.

(3) An order made under this section shall be served on the person to whom it is directed by a police officer in the manner prescribed for the service of a summons on a witness in civil proceedings before a court of law.

(4) If a person to whom an order under this section is directed does not attend at the time and place mentioned therein, the Tribunal may, upon being satisfied that the order was duly served or that the person to whom the order is directed willfully avoids service, issue a warrant under the hand of a member to apprehend such person and to bring him before the Tribunal at a time and place specified in the warrant.

(5) Every warrant issued under subsection (4) of this section shall be executed by a police officer.

(6) Where a person is arrested in pursuance of a warrant issued under this section and is not brought before the Tribunal within twenty-four hours of his arrest or earlier released by order of the Tribunal on his undertaking to attend at a time and place specified by it, he shall forthwith be taken before a magistrate and such magistrate shall—

- (a) if such person enters into a suitable recognizance for his appearance before the Tribunal, release him from custody; or
- (b) order such person to be detained in custody until such time as he can be brought before the Tribunal.

11. Subject to section 10 of this Act and any Regulations which the Minister may, on the recommendation of the Tribunal make in that behalf, every person required to give any information, by, or ordered to attend to give evidence or to produce any document, paper or thing before the Tribunal shall be entitled in, respect of such information, evidence, document, paper or thing to the same rights and privileges as witnesses have in a court of law.

Privilege of witness

12.-(1) Where the President certifies that the giving of any information, the answering of any question or the production of any document, paper or thing—
